TRADEMARKS

For many businesses, your brand will be a crucial part of the identity of your business. Customers will often identify your business by reference to your logo, slogan, colour scheme or even a distinctive sound. The best way to protect these distinctive elements of your brand and intellectual property is by obtaining a registered trademark. It is possible to trade without obtaining registration for these elements of your brand. However, by obtaining a registered trademark you will have a record of the date on which you began using a trademark, the exact mark you have registered, and the classes in which you have obtained registration.

Apolat Legal's trademark lawyers can assist you with:

- Searches;
- Filing;
- Trademark prosecution;
- Renewals;
- Trademark portfolio management;
- Licensing & Franchising;
- Mergers & Acquisitions;
- Trademark enforcement;
- Trademark litigation.

Our tailored legal services are comprised of searches, registration, renewals, due diligence, license agreements, franchise agreements, assignment of rights, mergers and acquisitions, trademark portfolio management and litigation.

COPYRIGHTS, AND RELATED RIGHTS

Copyright is an area of IP law that is becoming increasingly important, particularly with the creation and dissemination of a wide range of works now done by electronic means. The digital revolution has impacted not just on software copyright and music but in areas as diverse as book publishing, satellite broadcasting and databases.

At Apolat Legal, our committed team of professionals is ready to provide a high level of service, delivering in a timely and efficient manner, reliable and effective solutions for the protection, enforcement and defence of copyrights.

DOMAIN NAMES

Dealing with domain name disputes can be technical and complicated. At Apolat Legal, we can provide you with swift advice in regard to your domain name dispute.

Our team has a good record of resolving domain name disputes informally, with the registrant agreeing to transfer the domain name. However, occasionally it is necessary to file formal complaints, for example, under the Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy (UDRP) at the World Intellectual Property Organisation (WIPO) as well as Viet Nam laws. We have an excellent record of obtaining the transfer of domain names in such cases.

TRANSFER OF TECHNOLOGY & FRANCHISING

Our attorneys partner their hands-on experience and rich industry insight with that of our specialized engineers to help our clients profit from and manage their intellectual property assets through licensing, transfer of technology, franchising and other commercial agreements. Franchising is a rapidly growing business model across Viet Nam. Business owners across various industries including fashion, food, real estate and professional services have chosen to grow their businesses through franchising.

Our franchise lawyers have a well-established reputation and provide tailored advice to potential franchisees. We have advised clients operating across a diverse range of industries – including hospitality, home services, IT and retail – and can apply our specialist knowledge to your franchise system. Our franchise team can clearly explain your obligations and rights under the franchise agreement. Importantly, our franchise lawyers are available to provide cost-effective, practical commercial advice before, during and after you enter into a franchise agreement.

We can assist with drafting key documents, leasing, negotiations, intellectual property and buying and selling a franchise.
